

Local Leader of Education: Mr Matt Grosvenor

Headteacher of Paulton Junior School

Current School

Paulton Junior School has 240 Key Stage 2 children (aged 7-11) on roll. The school is divided into 9 classes.

The School was judged to be outstanding by Ofsted in 2007 and again during its interim assessment in 2011.

Personal Experience

Matt has been Headteacher of Paulton Junior School since 2005 and prior to this was Deputy Headteacher. He also taught at Cameley Primary School for six years and was a Leading Maths Teacher for the Local Authority.

Areas of Expertise

Matt has an extensive knowledge of school improvement systems.

He has led structural change across a wide range of improvement processes including: effective target setting, tracking and use of data to raise standards across the school, behaviour management, monitoring and evaluation, high quality continuous professional development and professional collaboration to ensure that Paulton Junior School is forward thinking school that makes a significant contribution to the wider learning landscape.